

Funeral Arrangements

- In DC, you may name an agent for body disposition if you want someone other than your next-of-kin to be in charge.
- It is legal for a family or designated agent to handle everything without a funeral director. To find a home funeral guide, check: <http://homefuneraldirectory.com/>
- If you will be using a funeral home, prices must be given over the telephone. You must be given a General Price List (GPL) if you visit in person and before discussing any services.
- You must be shown a Casket and Outer Burial Container Price List before selecting either.
- You must be given a Statement of Funeral Goods and Services Selected with the total cost before any services are provided.
- Do not sign any contract for more than you can afford to pay. If the deceased was indigent, there may be district funds of $800 for burial and $450 for cremation if total cost is less than $2,000. There is no other organization that assists with costs.

Autopsy

- If the death was unexpected or the cause of death uncertain, the state will probably require an autopsy.
- If you have questions about the death, you may request and pay for a private autopsy.
- If a viewing is planned, there will likely be extra charges to repair the body for embalming.

Organ, Body, and Tissue Donation

- If death occurs in the hospital, you are likely to be asked about organ donation. Only about 1% of the deaths are eligible for major organ donation. The organ procurement organization (OPO) will pay for any extra body preparation needed if you plan a viewing. Decline any such charge you might find on a GPL.

- After-death donation of eyes, skin, and long bones may be considered. Ask the hospital social worker or the funeral director about this.
- Whole body donation to a medical school is one way to lower costs although the family must pay for transportation beyond 50 miles. After study, the school will cremate the body and return the cremated remains to the family if requested. You should have back-up funeral plans if your body cannot be accepted for any reason.
- There are also non-academic companies that accept whole bodies for research and education. All must be accredited by the American Association of Tissue Banks. Various body parts will likely be shipped around the country and possibly internationally. Note that this is an entirely different category of body donation from the traditional cadaver donation to a medical school.

Embalming and Other Requirements

- There are no embalming requirements in DC.
- If death was due to a contagious or communicable disease, the body must be handled by a licensed funeral director.
- While some airlines prefer that a body be embalmed, an airtight container may make that optional.
- Many funeral homes have a policy that requires embalming for a public viewing. Embalming does not protect the public health. It merely delays decomposition.
- Disposition must occur within one week.

Caskets and Vaults

- Neither is required by state law for burial. A rigid combustible container is required for cremation.

- A casket will not prevent natural decomposition.
- You may build your own or purchase from a casket retailer. Vault dealers rarely sell to the public.
- The purpose of a vault is to keep the ground from caving in. It facilitates maintenance for the cemetery. It has no preservative qualities regardless of how much you spend.

Burial

- Because of the municipal nature of the District, home burial is generally not feasible.
- If you purchase a lot in a commercial, town, or religious cemetery, you will have the opening and closing costs in addition to the cost of the plot.
- Some cemeteries have restrictions on the kind of monuments or plantings and adornment allowed.
- Cemeteries are required to post all prices.
- Authorization for disinterment can be obtained from the local registrar.

Cremation

- A medical examiner's permit is required.
- A pacemaker must be removed.
- Some crematories will let the family witness the cremation.
- The cremation process takes about two-and-a-half hours for an average adult. The staff will remove any metal and pulverize the bone fragments to small particles, similar to white or gray coarse sand, about 5-10 pounds.
- Cremated remains may be kept at home, scattered or buried on private land with the landowner's permission, interred in a cemetery or memorial garden, or placed in a mausoleum niche.
- If scattering on public land or water, don't ask, don't tell. Park service people are concerned that some may want to create a little shrine at the site and would prefer not to know your plans. Be discreet. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) says they must be scattered three miles out to sea. That's because the federal agency has no jurisdiction over the first three miles; the bordering state does. Most states (except for California and South Dakota) have no restrictions on the disposition of cremated remains, and there are no "cremains police" even in those two states. Do as you wish.

- If flying with cremated remains, be sure they are in a non-metal container to pass through the scanner.
- Cremated remains may be sent only by U.S. Postal Service. Use Priority Mail Express and ask for delivery confirmation. FedEx and UPS will not knowingly accept cremated remains.

Veterans and Their Dependents

- You will need a copy of the DD214 discharge papers for gaining benefits.
- There are no veterans cemeteries in DC. Check the neighboring states. Typically, interment and marker are free of charge for the veteran, spouse, and certain dependents. There may be a charge for vaults and an opening/closing fee.
- The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) provides markers for veterans no matter where they are interred. Markers can be upright or flat, and they come in bronze, marble, and granite: (800) 697-6947.
- A free flag can be ordered through the U.S. Postal Service.
- A comprehensive list of veterans benefits can be found here: <http://www.funerals.org/faq/60-veterans-funeral-and-burial-benefits>

Social Security Death Benefit

- There is a $255 death benefit for a surviving spouse. There is no similar benefit when that spouse dies.

- Dependent children are entitled to survivor benefits when a parent dies.

Prepaying for a Funeral

- There are no laws or regulations to protect prepaid funeral transactions in the District.
- If the contract guarantees the price, the interest is supposed to cover funeral inflation. But many investments do not appreciate as fast as the prices climb. You have a right to insist on no extra charges if it is clearly identified in the contract as "price guaranteed." Any substitutions should be of equal quality to that described in the contract.
- Prices for third-party items such as the crematory fee or obituary cannot be guaranteed.

- Setting aside assets for Medicaid eligibility is the one time it makes sense to prepay for a funeral. There is no limit as to how much you set aside in an irrevocable trust. Be sure to ask if you will be getting an annual report of your prepaid funds and let those who will be handling your affairs know that you have prepaid and where.

The District Funeral Board of Funeral Service has five members, one of which is a consumer representative. Cemeteries must be registered with the Department of Human Services.

Complaints

- Valid complaints include dishonesty, misrepresentation, unprofessional conduct, negligence, breach of contract, violation of state or federal laws. For how to file a complaint, see: www.funerals.org/your-legal-rights/complaint
