

Funeral Arrangements

- You may name an agent for body disposition if you want someone other than your next-of-kin to be in charge or put your funeral wishes in writing and let the family know ahead of time.
- It is legal for a family or designated agent to handle everything without a funeral director. To find a home funeral guide, check: <http://homefuneraldirectory.com/>
- If you will be using a funeral home, prices must be given over the telephone. You must be given a General Price List (GPL) if you visit in person and before discussing any services. You must be shown a Casket and Outer Burial Container Price List before selecting either.
- You must be given a Statement of Funeral Goods and Services Selected with the total cost before any services are provided.
- The Funeral Consumers Alliance of Minnesota does periodic funeral price surveys: www.funerals.org
- Do not sign any contract for more than you can afford to pay. Cremation (or burial) can be paid by the county for the disposition of indigents. There is no other organization that assists with costs.

Autopsy

- If the death was unexpected or the cause of death uncertain, the state will probably require an autopsy.
- If you have questions about the death, you may request and pay for a private autopsy.
- If a viewing is planned, there will likely be extra charges to repair the body for embalming.

Organ, Body, and Tissue Donation

- If death occurs in the hospital, you are likely to be asked about organ donation. Only about 1% of the deaths are eligible for major organ donation. The organ procurement organization (OPO) will pay for any extra body preparation needed if you plan a viewing. Decline any such charge you might find on the GPL.

- After-death donation of eyes, skin, and bones may be considered. Ask the hospital social worker or the funeral director about this.
- Whole body donation to a medical school is one way to lower costs. After study, the school will cremate the body and return the cremated remains to the family if requested. You should have back-up funeral plans if your body cannot be accepted for any reason.
- There are also non-academic companies that accept whole bodies for research and education. Various body parts will likely be shipped around the country and possibly internationally. The state has no laws regulating these companies. Note that this is an entirely different category of body donation from the traditional cadaver donation to a medical school.
- To find the nearest body donation option, the cost if any, and the reasons for body rejection check: www.finalrights.org

Embalming and Other Requirements

- Embalming or refrigeration are required after 72 hours. Refrigeration is limited to six days; use of dry ice is limited to four days.
- Embalming can be ordered by the Commissioner of Health in the case of infectious disease, the worst possible circumstance for embalming.
- Embalming is required when shipping a body by public transportation.
- Families may not be allowed into a preparation room.
- Many funeral homes have a policy that requires embalming for a public viewing. Embalming does not protect the public health. It merely delays decomposition.

Caskets and Vaults

- Neither is required by state law for burial. A rigid combustible container is required for cremation.
- A casket will not prevent natural decomposition.

- You may build your own or purchase from a casket retailer. Vault dealers rarely sell to the public.
- The purpose of a vault is to keep the ground from caving in. It facilitates maintenance for the cemetery. It has no preservative qualities regardless of how much you spend.

Burial

- Any person and any religious corporation may establish a cemetery on their own land. The land must be surveyed and a plat recorded with the county recorder. Family graveyards are exempt from taxation. Check with the local zoning laws first. A good practice is 150 feet from a water supply and 25 feet from a power line with two or three feet of earth on top.
- If you purchase a lot in a commercial, town, or religious cemetery, you will have the opening and closing costs in addition to the cost of the plot.
- Some cemeteries have restrictions on the kind of monuments or plantings and adornment allowed.
- A disinterment permit may be obtained from the Health Commissioner or a licensed mortician. The casket may not be opened without a court order.

The Mortuary Science Section of the Minnesota Health Department licenses funeral directors, funeral homes, and crematories. Some coroners are funeral directors with a potential conflict of interest but fewer than in the past.

Cremation

- A medical examiner's or coroner's permit is required.
- A pacemaker must be removed.
- Some crematories will let the family witness the cremation.
- The cremation process takes about two-and-a-half hours for an average adult. The staff will remove any metal and pulverize the bone fragments to small particles, similar to white or gray coarse sand, about 5-10 pounds.

- Cremated remains may be kept at home, scattered or buried on private land with the landowner's permission, interred in a cemetery or memorial garden, or placed in a mausoleum niche. If scattering on public land or water, don't ask, don't tell. Park service people are concerned that some may want to create a little shrine at the site and would prefer not to know your plans. Be discreet. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) says they must be scattered three miles out to sea. That's because the federal agency has no jurisdiction over the first three miles; the bordering state does. Most states (except for California and South Dakota) have no restrictions on the disposition of cremated remains, and there are no "cremains police" even in those two states. Do as you wish.
- If flying with cremated remains, be sure they are in a non-metal container to pass through the scanner.
- Cremated remains may be sent only by U.S. Postal Service. Use Priority Mail Express with delivery confirmation. FedEx and UPS will not knowingly accept cremated remains.

Veterans and Their Dependents

- You will need a copy of the DD214 discharge papers for gaining benefits.
- The VA cemetery in Minneapolis has space for both casketed and cremated remains as does the state-run veterans cemetery in Little Falls. Interment and marker are free of charge for the veteran, spouse, and certain dependents in the VA cemetery. Charges for non-veteran spouses and dependents runs from $250 to $750 in the state-run cemetery; vault charges are also extra there.
- The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) provides markers for veterans no matter where they are interred. Markers can be upright or flat, and they come in bronze, marble, and granite: (800) 697-6947.

- A free flag can be ordered through the U.S. Postal Service.
- A comprehensive list of veterans benefits can be found here:

Prepaying for a Funeral

- If the contract guarantees the price, the interest is supposed to cover funeral inflation. But many investments do not appreciate as fast as the prices climb. You have a right to insist on no extra charges if it is clearly identified in the contract as "price guaranteed." Any substitutions should be of equal quality to that described in the contract.
- Prices for third-party items such as the crematory fee or obituary cannot be guaranteed.
- There are no protections or trusting requirements for prepaid cemetery merchandise and services.

- Setting aside assets for Medicaid eligibility is the one time it makes sense to prepay for a funeral. There is no limit to the amount held in an irrevocable preneed account. Be sure to ask if you will be getting an annual report of your prepaid funds and let those who will be handling your affairs know that you have prepaid and where.
- You have a right to a full refund or transfer with interest on request.

Social Security Death Benefit

- There is a $255 death benefit for a surviving spouse. There is no similar benefit when that spouse dies.
- Dependent children are entitled to survivor benefits when a parent dies.

Alert: The Minnesota Funeral Directors Association regularly persuades lawmakers to draft bills that take away funeral consumer rights such as caring for your own dead and who may sell caskets. The FCA of MN could use volunteers to monitor legislation. Or you can follow the action at www.funerals.org
