

Funeral Arrangements

- In Mississippi there is no law that allows you to name an agent for body disposition if you want someone other than your next-of-kin to be in charge, but the written wishes of the deceased are to prevail.
- It is legal for a family or designated agent to handle everything without a funeral director. Or look for a home funeral guide:
<http://homefuneraldirectory.com/>
- If you will be using a funeral home, prices must be given over the telephone. You must be given a General Price List (GPL) if you visit in person and before discussing any services.
- You must be shown a Casket and Outer Burial Container Price List before selecting either.
- You must be given a Statement of Funeral Goods and Services Selected with the total cost before any services are provided.
- Do not sign any contract for more than you can afford to pay. There may be county funds for indigent assistance, but services will be limited. There is no organization that assists with funeral costs.

Autopsy

- If the death was unexpected or the cause of death uncertain, the state will probably require an autopsy.
- If you have questions about the death, you may request and pay for a private autopsy.
- If a viewing is planned, there may be extra charges to repair the body.
- Some coroners are also funeral directors, a conflict of interest. Be sure to pick the funeral home of your choice without pressure to use the coroner's funeral home.

Organ, Body, and Tissue Donation

- If death occurs in a hospital, you likely will be asked about organ donation. Only about 1% of the deaths are eligible for major organ donation. The organ procurement organization (OPO) will pay for any extra body preparation needed if you plan a viewing. Decline any such charge you might find on the GPL.

- After-death donation of eyes, skin, and long bones may be considered. Ask the hospital social worker or the funeral director about this.
- Whole body donation to a medical school is one way to lower costs. After medical study, the school will pay for cremation and can return the cremated remains to the family if requested. You should have back-up funeral plans if your body cannot be accepted for any reason.
- There are also non-academic companies that accept whole bodies for research and education. Various body parts will probably be shipped around the country and possibly internationally. This state has no laws regulating these companies. Note that this is an entirely different category of body donation from the traditional cadaver donation to a medical school.

Embalming and Other Requirements

- Embalming or refrigeration is required when the destination cannot be reached in 24 hours or disposition will not take place for 48 hours.
- Airlines prefer to have the body embalmed, but a sealed container can usually make that optional.
- Many funeral homes have a policy that requires embalming for a public viewing. Embalming does not protect the public health. It merely delays decomposition.
- When death is from a contagious disease, a medical examiner must be consulted.

Caskets, Liners, and Vaults

- Neither is required by state law for burial. A rigid combustible container is required for cremation.
- The least expensive casket must be displayed.
- A casket will not prevent natural decomposition.
- You may build your own or purchase from a casket retailer. Vault dealers rarely sell to the public.

- The purpose of a vault is to keep the ground from caving in. It facilitates maintenance for the cemetery. It has no preservative qualities regardless of how much you spend.

Burial

- For home burial, draw a map of your land showing where a family cemetery will be and check with the county Board of Supervisors if home burial is planned outside the corporate limits of a municipality. Inside the city limits, one must deal with the governing authorities. There is likely to be a modest fee to record your map with the deed. A cemetery must be at least 500 feet from a hospital or other medical facility. A good practice is 150 feet from a water supply and 25 feet from a power line or neighbor's boundary. The top of the coffin must be 24 inches below the natural surface of the earth.
- If you purchase a lot in a town or religious cemetery, you will also have the opening and closing costs in addition to the cost of the plot.
- Some cemeteries have restrictions on the kind of monuments or plantings and adornment permitted.
- An order for disinterment must be obtained from a circuit court.

The state Board of Funeral Service has seven members. One is a consumer representative. This board also regulates casket retailers and crematories. The Secretary of State regulates preneed sales.

Cremation

- A pacemaker must be removed.
- Some crematories will let the family witness the cremation.
- The cremation process takes about two-and-a-half hours for an average adult. The crematory will remove any metal fragments and pulverize the cremated remains to small particles, similar - to white or gray coarse sand, about 5-10 pounds.

- Cremated remains may be kept at home, scattered or buried on private land with the landowner's permission, interred in a cemetery or memorial garden, or placed in a mausoleum niche. If scattering on public land or water, don't ask, don't tell. Park service people are concerned that some may want to create a little shrine at the site and would prefer not to know your plans. Be discreet. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) says they must be scattered three miles out to sea. That's because the federal agency has no jurisdiction over the first three miles; the bordering state does. Most states (except for California and South Dakota) have no restrictions on the disposition of cremated remains, and there are no "cremains police" even in those two states. Do as you wish.
- If flying with cremains, be sure they are in a non-metal container to pass through the scanner.
- Cremated remains may be sent only by U.S. Postal Service. Use Priority Mail Express with delivery confirmation. FedEx and UPS will not knowingly accept cremated remains.

Benefits for Veterans and Their Dependents

- You will need a copy of the DD214 discharge papers for gaining benefits.
- The VA cemeteries in Biloxi, Corinth, and Natchez all have space for interment of both casketed and cremated remains. There is a state-run veterans cemetery in Newton. Interment and marker are free of charge for the veteran, spouse, and certain dependents. Interment and marker are free; there is a charge of $450 for a non-vet spouse or dependant.
- The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) provides markers for veterans no matter where they are interred. Markers can be upright or flat, and they come in bronze, marble, and granite: (800) 697-6947. A free flag can be ordered through the U.S. Postal Service.
- A comprehensive list of veterans benefits can be found here:

Prepaying for a Funeral

- If the contract guarantees the price, the interest is supposed to cover funeral inflation. But many investments do not appreciate as fast as the prices climb. You have a right to insist on no extra charges if it is clearly identified in the contract as "price guaranteed." Any substitutions should be of equal quality to that described in the contract.
- Prices of third-party items such as the crematory fee or obituary cannot be guaranteed.
- Finance charges are permitted on installment sales, even though you have not yet used any services or merchandise such as buying a car or house. Your own savings would avoid that.

- Setting aside assets for Medicaid eligibility is the one time it makes sense to prepay for a funeral. There is a $6,000 limit on the amount you can set aside in an irrevocable trust, not counting cemetery expenses.
- Be sure to ask if you will be getting an annual report of your prepaid funds and let those who will be handling your affairs know that you have prepaid and where.

Social Security Death Benefit

- There is a $255 death benefit for a surviving spouse. There is no similar benefit when that spouse dies.
- Dependent children are entitled to survivor benefits when a parent dies.

Complaints

- Valid complaints include dishonesty, misrepresentation, unprofessional conduct, negligence, breach of contract, violation of state or federal laws. For how to file a complaint, see: www.funerals.org/your-legal-rights/complaint
